$129

Do you need an easy way to connect HDMI sources to a second TV in the house?

It's hard to believe, but these cable adapters have an in-built wireless HDMI sender capable of sending 1080p signals over distances up to 50m. Previously these sorts of senders would cost up to $600!

Available in two types, standard HDMI or USB type C for sending your laptop, tablet or phone screen to your TV. Excellent latency performance also makes it perfect for sending your game console signal to a second room or your PC to your couch.

All you need is USB power at each end - typically found on the back your TV, or via a USB wall charger.
